Art or Evidence? offers “Tea Liturgy” an inspiring and original collaboration of music and musings for Rogue Festival audiences.

Four artists bring original songwriting, marimba, literature and tea to folks thirsty for something unique.

[Fresno, CA] - Liturgy: a communal response to and participation in the sacred through activities involving praise, thanksgiving, reflection or repentance.

Tea Liturgy: A communal response to and participation in the creative through activities involving song, spoken word, humor, music, and brewed beverages.

Building a show song by song, word by word, laugh by laugh and bird by bird, Art or Evidence? returns to the Rogue Festival with an exploration of everyday creativity, everyday rituals, and humorous insights to charge up your own creative battery. “Tea Liturgy” invokes the muses of music and spoken word to connect you with ways you can bring life, light, and creativity to your own everyday existence.

Victor DesRoches, Rachel Witort, Charis Calvert and Heather Parish marry their various talents and influences into a show that includes original songs, stories, ukelele, guitar, classical marimba, and an irreverent essay all delving into the creative process from artists who are dedicated to their craft. Don't miss your chance to be inspired with us!
